

CLEANING AN A.T.B. SUSTAINABLY AND EFFICIENTLY

Nothing feels as good as going for a ride on your A.T.B. on a sunny day in autumn. Trudging through the mud, driving on forest trails or climbing steep slopes. That's how your expensive material gets a really hard time and chances are you're completely covered in mud afterwards. So regularly cleaning an A.T.B. is an absolute must! But what way do you clean it most efficiently? We recommend to clean your A.T.B. after every ride. It prolongs the life of your A.T.B. extensively and prevents unnecessary repairs. This doesn't have to take a lot of time. Discover here our tips to clean your A.T.B. optimally so as to keep the material in a perfect state!

Material:

- Bucket of water
- Feem Active Cleaner
- Cleaning cloth
- Soft brush
- Sponges
- Dry cloth

Step 1 – Start with water

Spray water over your A.T.B. as soon as you come home after the drive, even if it's dry weather. The dirt gets off better that way. Make sure mud and dirt don't get a chance to dry. Don't use a high-pressure cleaner or too harsh of a spray, this can damage your bicycle.

Step 2 – Make some soapy water with Feem Active Cleaner

Fill the bucket with lukewarm water and add 5% Feem Active Cleaner. Don't use dish soap, that damages your bicycle. Take a sponge and rub the soapy water over your bike. Let it absorb some minutes so Feem Active Cleaner can do its job.

Step 3 – Rinse and dry A.T.B.

Rinse your A.T.B. completely with enough water afterwards to avoid residue. Use a dry cloth to dry all moist parts. You can also dry your A.T.B. dry with air. When parts stay moist, they can get damaged and not function well anymore. A moist brake makes a piping sound for example, so make sure you dry these well.

Step 4 – Disassemble your chain and gear

Once every few times, it's useful to disassemble your chain and gear and clean them individually. To clean them thoroughly, put them in a tray with half water and half Feem Active Cleaner. That's how you can clear the dirt and grease from in between the links of your chain.

PS: Feem Active Cleaner cannot only be used for the mud on your A.T.B. but you can also clear the dirt on your sportswear.
